

---

Service and Support

Providing FEFLOW as a high-level professional software is only one part of our mission. Dealing with complex modelling projects under a tight budget and schedule, our clients expect much more from their software provider - and rightly so.

Our team of experienced groundwater modellers supports your modelling projects by providing

- FEFLOW software support
- Extended modelling support / project-specific consulting
- Open-enrollment and customer-specific training courses
- Development of customer-specific extensions and solutions
- Modelling services as a subcontractor
- Complete consulting solutions
- Model and project review
- ...

Contact us for discussing the specific needs in your project!